Foreword

THIS YEAR, SO FULL OF STRIVINGS AND SUCCESSES, OF JOYS AND PLEASURES, HAS GONE AND NO MATTER HOW WE TRY WE CAN NEVER CALL IT BACK AND LIVE IT OVER AGAIN. BUT IN THIS BOOK WE HAVE PORTRAYED SOME OF THE HAPPY HOURS WE HAVE SPENT TOGETHER. MAY IT IN SOME MEASURE BRING BACK TO YOU REMEMBRANCES OF DEAR FRIENDS AND FAVORITE SPORTS. AND IF, WHEN WE ARE FAR APART, IT MAY REMIND US OF EACH OTHER AND OF THE GOOD TIMES WE HAVE HAD HERE, THIS ANNUAL WILL HAVE SERVED ITS PURPOSE.

THE EDITOR.

TO THE JANITORS

Of all the janitors in the world,
We have the best, I know;
They work around the school
And keep it white as snow.

When we need a lock broken
Or want to get into a room,
We go to hunt for them
And find them with a broom.

With their brooms and shovels
They're busy from morn till night;
Their work is always a pleasure
And to keep the school clean their delight.

So here's to our janitors,
Who work without a frown;
May they keep on smiling and working
And keep our school the cleanest place in town.

WHO'S WHO

The neatest of our girls
Is quiet Lena Rose;
James outshines all the boys
With his business as he goes.

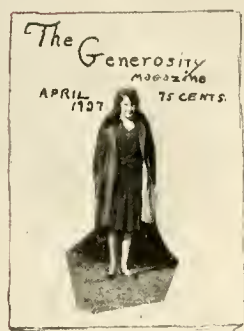

Louise is so domestic,
For this she won her fame;
As for Athletics—Mildred and Welch—
You should see them play the game.

Connie Hall and Buddy
Are always full of pep,
And with his witty sayings
Bob Cilley has made his "rep."

The most generous in our class
Are Virginia Clark and Jake;
While for the most reserved
Jo and Clifford take the cake.

Sadie and Fred are popular,
Far beyond the rest;
While "Spag" and Leonard Moretz
Are all 'round the best.

OUR CLASS

It would never do for a class, so great as ours,
To go down in history unsung.
So we will take up the paper and dip the pen,
And consider the task begun.

When our class first came to high school
As fresh as the morning dew,
We were timid and backward and full of fear
For everything seemed so new.

It seemed we never could reach our goal
And get up on top.
Many times we've felt like giving up—
Almost ready to flop.

But we started to work, with a spirit to win,
And let nothing set us aside;
Every day we labored and toiled,
With the faculty as our guide.

And so to thee and your classes of learning
We ask that you let us say,
"We want to thank you for all that you've done,
And our best respects to pay."

For years have past and the day draws near
When we must say good-bye;
For it is with great sorrow that we depart
From you, dear Hickory Hi.

—"SPAG" AND "CON."

THE CLASS OF 1929

IN THE course of human events it becomes necessary for famous people to write for the edification of the world in general the things which have made them famous. So we, the Junior Class of Claremont High School, do here and now make this most sought-after of sought-after documents.

During the first year of our sojourn at this most beloved (?) of schools we set out to get knowledge with as little work as possible—and most of our number have succeeded. We were so “green” that we did not recover from the shock (and other things) enough to sit up and make ourselves heard. Wandering through the maze of Latin, Algebra, Detention Hall, and other subjects, we came at last after nine months of toiling to our grand and glorious, know-it-all Sophomore year.

Truly, no one knows as much as a Sophomore and we, having become the same, made known to everyone who would listen that we were the most marvelous class of Sophomores that had ever condescended to grace the Hickory High School. During the time we were “lording it over” the Freshmen, the majority of our number forgot to pass, and when we became Juniors, we had dwindled until only sixty-five of the original number remained.

Our Junior class is a “survival of the fittest.” We are a noble band of “Seekers of Knowledge.” Our plans for our various and sundry futures are yet to be made. Inheriting from our ancestors a desire to make money, we set out to raise money—if not money, we will raise Cain. Having raised this money we will do our best to kill off, under the cover of a reception, as many Seniors as will please us not.

The class of '29 is the best yet!

GIRLS OF FRESHMAN CLASS

THE FRESHMAN

A Freshman is a stuck-up kid,
Who thinks he has something under his lid:
He's always meddling in a senior's "biz,"
Too dumb to know how silly he is.

When it comes to exams, he'll scratch his head
And wish he'd listened to what the teacher said:
He carries himself with a wonderful ease,
And feels certain he knows his q's and p's.

The freshman girl is all for looks:
She thinks about this and forgets her books.
She paints her checks and powders her nose,
And when she's not invited, she sometimes goes.

He looks with disdain on the upper classmen,
Saying, "When I get there I will surpass them."
We cannot blame the poor kid for that,
For he's only an insignificant rat.

DIXON LESLIE.

JIMMY HART: "What shall I write my theme on?"

SPAG BLACKBURN: "The results of idleness—and hand in eight pages of theme paper—blank!"

MARY HART: "Why was your letter so damp?"

DOROTHY CILLEY: "Postage due, I guess."

DOT CILLEY: "Which travels faster, heat or cold?"

SADIE: "Heat."

DOT: "What makes you think so?"

SADIE: "One can catch cold."

VIRGINIA CLARK: "Oh, you say he killed himself? What was the motive?"

JIMMY S.: "I don't know; he just jumped in front of the train."

VIRGINIA: "O, I see! a locomotive."

Edith Ivey said that she must have played her piece on the piano very well because when she reached the end it had "Fine."

MR. GWIN: "Why is a school room like an out-of-date Ford?"

BRUNO: "Because there's an old crank up in front."

MR. GWIN: "Yes, and every little nut is in its place."

MISS PHIFER: "Give a sentence using the word jeopardy."

AUBREY POOVEY: "The thief was caught by a jeopardy sheriff."

MR. THOMPSON: "Hey! don't spit on the floor."

FRED ABERNETHY: "What's the matter? Floor leak?"

ERSKINE: "That's the most unkindest cut of all, as the poet says."

GWYN: "As how?"

ERSKINE: "Well, I showed Nancy a picture of myself as a child; my father was holding me on his knee, and she said, 'My! who's the ventriloquist?'"

THE HICKORY LOG '28

Connie Hall says of her shoes that five is her size but five and a half is so comfortable that she wears a six.

W. B. SMITH: "What would you give for a voice like mine?"
ADRIAN S.: "Chloroform."

FRED: "Do you like simple things?"
RIX: "Are you proposing?"

MARY E.: "Mary Stewart, what are we studying about in chemistry now; I've forgotten?"
MARY S.: "About molecules. Don't you remember?"
MARY E.: "Oh yes. I've tried to get Daddy to wear one, but he couldn't keep it on his eye."

MR. COTRELL: "What is a calorie?"
MILTON A.: "The next tier of seats above the balcony."

Mr. Walling would like to know why a girl who wears cotton stockings never sees a mouse.

COACH SHORES: "Don't mind that big fellow; the bigger they are the harder they fall."
JOHNNY MAKORELL: "Yeah, but suppose he falls on me?"

NEZ: "I'm calling Pinkie 'Hiawatha' now, you know."
MARY E.: "Honest Injun?"
NEZ: "Sure, because he gives me many a ha-ha."

MR. GWIN: "Please run upstairs and get my watch."
KEN WARLICK: "Oh, just wait and it'll run down."

MISS MCCOMB: "Have you been reading Longfellow?"
ANDREW: "No, ma'am, just about ten minutes."

BIOLOGY STUDENT TO BUD SHUFORD: "So you believe in the survival of the fittest?"
BUD: "No! I don't believe in the survival of anybody. I'm an undertaker."

MISS DUNCAN: "Hugh, translate Caesar's 'Boni legia'."
HUGH D'ANNA: "Caesar has bony legs."

The only difference graduation makes in a pupil is that "the old jail" becomes the "dear Alma Mater."

IRENE ABERNETHY: "O. Miss Moore, I believe I've cut my finger off."
MISS MOORE: "What makes you think so?"
IRENE: "I can't find it anywhere."

MISS BAGWELL: "Yes, all Texas needs to become a paradise is more good people and water."
BUD GEITNER: "That's all hell needs."

MINISTER, IN CHAPEL: "Would anyone here care to join me in the new missionary movement?"
SADIE: "I'd love to try it if it's anything like the Charleston."

THE HICKORY LOG '28

"Black chile, do you know what deceit am?"
"Suttinly I does, Beelzebub."
"Den what it am?"
"Well, when I leans ovah an' beahs something rip, I know dat's de-seat."

MARY LEACH: "It is possible to cut some people by ignoring them completely."
FRIEND: "That is so, and I wish I could cut the lawn that way."

GIRL FRIEND TO RIX SETZER, WHOSE HAIR IS ALL TORN UP: "Did Fred kiss you by force?"
RIX: "He thinks he did."

BILL HALL: "I'm worried about myself. I have insomnia."
FRED A.: "What makes you think so?"
BILL: "I woke up twice in Miss McComb's class today."

NEW STUDENT: "Where have I seen your face before?"
GEORGE M.: "Right here where it is now."

The Glee Club will now join us in that little ditty entitled, "I'm glad I made you cry, little girl. Your face is cleaner now."

QUESTIONS OF ETIQUETTE: "In case of an auto wreck, who should speak first. And should the man precede the lady through the windshield?"

LENA HAMRICK: "Gee, your car sounds like an old wreck."
DOC. DYSART: "It isn't the car; it's the rumble seat."

When Noah sailed the waters blue
He had troubles, same as you;
For forty days he drove the Ark
Before he found a place to park.

"Why take life too seriously?
You'll never get out of it alive."

MISS BLACK (in English Class): "Jimmy, please tell me what it is when I say, 'I love, you love, he loves.'"
JIMMY M.: "That's one of them triangles where somebody gets shot."

HELEN NORMAN: "My father is familiar with many tongues."
MISS DUNCAN: "He must be quite a linguist."
HELEN: "No, he's a doctor."

Recently in England an elderly lady died, and when her personal effects were examined, fifty thousand dollars was found in her bustles. Quite a lot to leave behind? What?

ROYD: "Were you hurt while you were on the eleven?"
LINDY: "No, while the eleven was on me."

GARAGE MECHANIC: "Where's the fan belt?"
LOUISE L.: "Say, if you're so anxious to learn geography, why don't you go to school?"

"Why were you driving your car into the garage at daylight this morning?"
"Well, I saw a red lantern beside that excavation down the street and sat there waiting for it to turn green."

GRAYDON: "You never told me you had a new car."
BOB CILLEY: "Gracious, I wonder if I missed anyone else."

A RED, RED NOSE

My nose is like a red, red rose
(It's newly caught a cold);
My nose is like a rubber balloon
'Cause it's stung by a bumble-bee bold.

As fair art thou, my puffed-up nose,
So full of cold am I,
And I will hide thee still, my dear,
Till from pneumonia we die.

Till from pneumonia we die, dear nose
And my throat parches with the heat;
And I will hide thee still, ole' nose,
While the pulse in my wrist doth beat.

So fare thee well, my only nose!
And fare thee well awhile!
And I will thee wi' a "hanky" hide,
And through all try to smile.

—A PARODY ON BURNS' "A Red, Red Rose."

MR. THOMPSON: "I see in the paper that three men were killed in a feud."
MIKE WHITENER: "I always did think those cheap cars were dangerous."

WELCH: "I had a nightmare last night."
DOT, NORMAN: "O! Do take me to ride on it sometime."

HELEN D'ANNA: "If you saw me riding a donkey down the street, what would you think?"
FRONY: "I'd think of a piece of fruit—a perfect pair."

MR. COTRELL (in biology): "What are your views on suicide?"
MARY LEACH: "I think it's too dangerous."

MR. CARVER: "What steps would you take if you saw a wild lion loose on the campus."
FOREST: "Long ones."

MISS AIKEN: "The French eggs are so much better than the American."
HELEN NORMAN: "Don't they have the same kind of hens over there?"

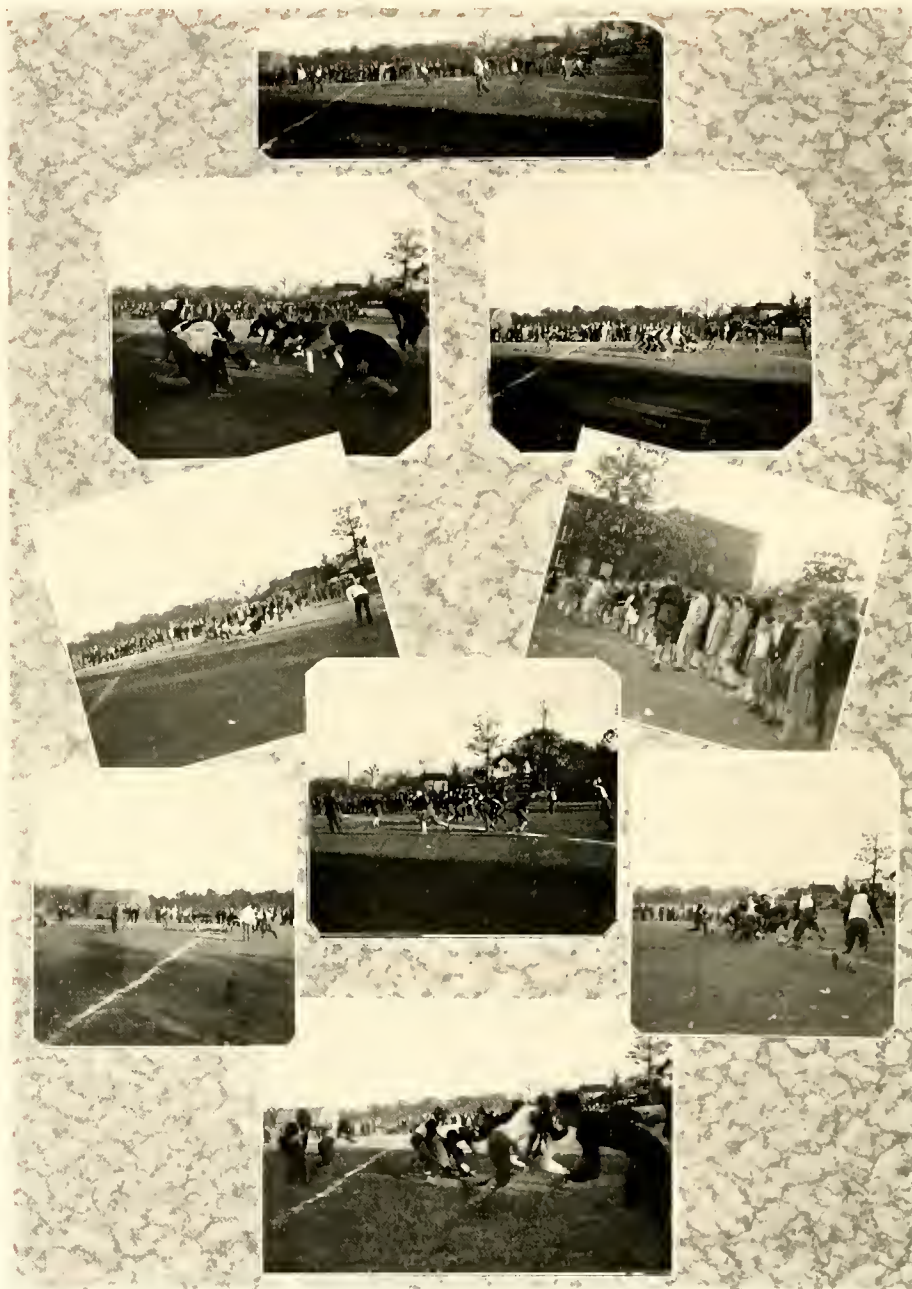

MISS MCCOMB: "Morris, what is the definition of antiquarian?"
MORRIS COHEN: "An antiquarian is a place where they keep fish."

SAM WARLICK: "Look out, Reid, don't stand on that railroad."
REID: "Why not?"
SAM: "Cause if the train sees that mouth of yours it will think it is a depot and run right in."

HELEN NORMAN: "All my ancestors were blonds."
RUDY HALL: "Then you come from preferred stock?"

SAID BUDDY ABERNETHY: "After the game is over,
After the count is clear,
Straighten my nose and shoulders,
And help me find my ear."

DREAMS

Dreaming is the easiest thing
That mortal man can do;
And I would rather sit and dream
Than anything else, would you?
To work is very fine indeed, but still
I think it seems
A great deal nicer to sit right still
And make up pretty dreams.

Some people think that dreamers dream
Of queer uncanny things,
Like houses built of pearls and gold
And men who run by springs,
And think that dreamers a fortune
N'er will make,
But dreamers poor would rather be
If just for dreaming's sake.

Now dreams are always handy,
This truth you can't dispute;
For dreams, the ones you make yourself,
Are always made to suit
Your mood, the time of year, and, too,
However you may feel,
And then you can go to work and make
Your dreams be real.

FLORENCE BOYD.

Spare the Ice and Spoil the Food

According to Uncle Sam, many families spend one-third of their income for food.

Now, is it worth while to invest a few cents in ice to protect the value of all that food? Since the answer is not open to argument, we wonder how any family can practice the "False Economy" of spoiled food.

Food left in a room—on a window shelf—left over night in any thing but a well-iced refrigerator can easily spoil. That's why ice is needed every day in the year. We're here to serve you.
